India gets its first Luxury Lifestyle Weekend in Mumbai

The three-day display is bringing your favourite brands and more to maximum city

Interacting with the world of luxury has changed on a tectonic level since the beginning of this millennium. People now view the concept of luxury as a means of consuming goods and services that come with the guarantee of superior quality. This new breed of consumers is in the indulgence game who would rather access high-quality, curated experiences than embrace the same lifestyle as the next man.

Preparing ahead, the Class Of 2017 is about to be schooled this November on all things luxury, courtesy of Luxury Lifestyle Weekend (LLW), a property owned by Magnanimous Group, in Mumbai, a first-of-its-kind in India, to cater to affluent lifestyle choices. Whether you're an auto-head or an investor, a man into land or jets, this weekend has it all and more. Indulge in a watch-making masterclass, attend single malt tastings and made-to-measure product experiences and interact with captains of industry as they conduct inspiring power panel discussions.

We give you seven reasons why this luxury weekend is a must-attend.

For the car enthusiast

The need for luxurious speed is what makes LLW the perfect pit stop for high-end automobile enthusiasts. You'll have national as well as international automakers here to showcase their respective brands.

Why LLW

LLW is unlike any other luxury event. Across three days, LLW is hosting more than 80 luxury brands that over 30,000+ attendees will get to experience, up close and personal.

One-of-a-kind experiences, unique goods and services, international hosting abilities...this is going to be the ultimate access point of your luxurious lifestyle. If we were you, we'd take it!

When: November 24 to November 26, between 11 am and 8 pm

Where: Royal Western India Turf Club, Mumbai
